John – I'll send my law notes first and then tackle the statement – I have not written a statement – are you referring to notes for Ray Burt ? [Code A]

Herewith third page – the beginning of causation Gillian PS these are the points relevant I think to broken bones and "our" cases. Check how soon Barton wrote up "quite happy for nurses to confirm death" Mine was immediately on admission with the extra "not obviously in pain". I have a query over ARs case as she was not put on morphine I understand until about two weeks after admission - therefore possibly manslaughter is more appropriate and I believe there were problems with kidneys for years .
