I hope this went through last week if not before [may still be helpful for your records]. The moment has gone in any event. All is very quiet at this end. Worrying so and perhaps the lull before.....

Thank you for the blog details. Sadly or perhaps happily I cannot open it. I will keep you posted.

I attach the further review note as arranged and am so sorry that this had not been sent to you as I had believed. Please let me know if there are errors or anything in it with which you disagree. Obviously we can discuss all the issues when we meet next Monday [2.30pm] at Rose Court and also decide the best ways to 'deconstruct' the inevitable problems which will arise.

I will write to J White later next week or at whatever timing best suits you.
