Mr Wanambwa presents his compliments and would very much value your further management of this pleasant World War II bomber pilot. I saw him in Clinic today on behalf of my Consultant and unfortunately he is still getting a significant degree of right renal pain with haematuria. He has a large right renal stone tightly packed to his right renal pelvis. This was subjected to ESWL but unfortunately after 7 sessions, no significant improvement was made.

Mr Cunningham had the possibility of percutaneous nephrolithotomy mentioned to him by Mr Chiverton and is quite sold on the idea. Unfortunately we do not have the equipment here to perform this procedure and our way of dealing with the stone would be an open nephrolithotomy.

Therefore we would be most grateful if you would possibly consider Mr Cunningham for this procedure and thank you for your advice and management so far.

Kind regards

Yours sincerely
