Hi Julie

We are both in the same predicament! I have only just started to re-look at the draft. I do have some changes from people who have now fed back to me so will be working on this later on this week. The intent is to produce the pucker version by the end of this month if that's ok. Locally, people are now getting on with the work. Kathryn

Kathryn

Massive apologies - but I haven't really progressed this very far my end. Have been called off on an other investigation. Have set aside some time this week. I appreciate these sort of documents evolve over time & wondered if I had the latest version? More than happy to look at a later draft if you'd feel it helpful.

Cheers

Julie
