The FOI e-mail address was merely to be used to e-mail you about this matter. At no point was e-mailing the statements mentioned!

They are our statements; the GMC already have our statements and simply wanted permission to pass them on. I am 100% certain that no mention was made of the statements being e-mailed to the FOI team.

Thanks Andrew

We probably were aware of them; it's just that they should've been sent to an NHSmail address, not to the FOI mailbox, as they are very sensitive and personal. I wanted to be sure that you hadn't asked Janet to send them there as we will probably follow up with the GMC on this point, but obviously how we approach that will depend on what you agreed with [Code A] you gave her the address and agreed the transfer then the onus is partially on us if you understand?

Kind regards

Debbie

So you didn't agree with her that she'd send them that day?

No. She said that the GMC had them and just needed permission to pass them on; I assume that the PCT would be aware of exactly what she was talking about!

Did you suggest she sent them over, or did she request an address to send to?

Casting my weak mind back: I believe she said that they were statements taken from staff at the hospital by an investigator of some description who was employed by the PCT at the time. The GMC already have the statements but need the PCT's permission to pass them on to the family of one of the patients who died, who have requested them for the forthcoming inquest.

Knowing nothing about your (or the PCT's) involvement in the Gosport War Memorial investigation, I explained my ignorance, spoke of your return from leave and [Code A] agreed that the matter could await your return the following week. Denise concurred, while neither Mel nor Sarah Tiller were available.

I believe that's about it!

Hello [Code A]

Can you cast your mind back to the conversation you had with [Code A] from the GMC please. Are you able to recall what you were told about the information that had been requested? Were you told what the content was? How did you agree the transfer of data

Thanks

Kind regards

Debbie
