Hi!

Hope you are managing in the cold and snow. It looks like Siberia out of the window here.

Interesting notification from the Coroner then! - in fact I have not received that as yet.

His position is still:

- Brewer - he is awaiting to hear from the RCN about her health and then will review his decision about calling her. I am chasing him about that.
- [Code A] - he will not budge and says he does not think he has sufficient reason to call her.
- Edmonson - he cannot find him anywhere and says he will admit the statement under rule 37.

Hope this helps a little.

Best wishes

Have received notification from the Coroner's Administrative Officer informing me of the Inquest date for my "daughter". I hope the attention to detail improves for the actual inquest. Have there been any answers or progress on the dozens of queries I have raised with you since 12 December 2012 – i.e. Brewer's statement to which Mr. Horsley stated he would give consideration, confirmation that he will allow Edmonson's statement, Code A who was present on 17 August and the alleged removal of the splint and any of the Haslar papers, which you also considered should be allowed?

I note the inquest now commences on the 9th and not the 8th – does this mean it will include 22 April for his verdict and do you want me down there for possible meeting with you on the 8th? I also note it will take place in the Coroner's Court in the Guildhall – why didn't Horsley know whether it had "loops" etc. and room for all those interested? Gillian PS Has there been a revised timetable as last time it had not been decided when Black and Ferner would appear.
