Subject: Career Break

I have seen John James' letter re his resignation. He describes his intention to:

...forming a private limited company...to provide residential and day care for people with learning disabilities.

It was therefore not connected with care for the elderly.

Dear Mrs McKenzie

I am aware that you have been seeking clarification about a possible business interest of Detective Superintendent James.

I can confirm that he did take a year long career break to form a private limited company.

The company was set up to provide residential and day care for people with learning disabilities. It was not a rest or care home for the elderly as has been suggested.

I trust this clarifies the situation for you.

Yours sincerely

Derek STEVENS M. Ed.

Dear Sue,

Thank you for forwarding me the contract for my career break. I am returning one copy signed as requested.

I thought that I should formally notify you of my intentions during the career break in accordance with the conditions of the contract. I will be forming a private limited company and it is our intention to provide residential and day care services for people with learning disabilities.

It therefore follows that my employment will be any and all of the duties associated with my responsibilities as a company director.

I trust that this brief summary is all that is required to comply with the conditions of my contract.

Yours faithfully,

Code A

John James
