To whom it may concern. I rang your office today to ask if i could be excused from attending to serve as a juror on Weds 18th March at 9:30 am. I was told that i have to request this via e-mail. I will not be able to attend as the lady that i had anticipated would be having my 6 yr old daughter has now been required to go into Hospital for a full Hysterectomy on the Tues before i am to attend. I have tried everyone who could possibly help me out to have my daughter, but there is no one. I know this is such short notice as the lady in your office pointed out to me several times this morning. I am not the sort of person who would shirk my responsibilities as a decent human being, but i really will find it impossible to attend. If you need proof from me about this lady then i will be only too pleased to forward you the information that you require. I would appreciate it if you you could e-mail me back to let me know your decision regarding this matter,thankyou....
