with regard to surgical patients going to Gosport, we would send TTOs for any medication they would not keep- our own ward pharmacist usually advises us on this the few patients that we do send are usually going for convalescence/rehab. - their needs are mainly nursing care plus we usually have to wait for a bed to come up so I don't feel we are discharging them too early we would actually like more beds available at GWMH- plus some of the patients request it - but some of the GPs have been reluctant to have their patients moved there the vascular consultants do an out-patient clinic once a week at GWMH and in the past have seen patients on the wards -either planned or by request
